

After this calibration, the output of DAC very precisely measurable by adding the error coefficient in FPGA.

Use the same DAC to calibrate our system. Since the input reference is known, we can calibrate our system for Gain error.